HOW YOUR ROCC CAN HELP

Getting you ready for treatment

Your doctor and your healthcare team should always be your primary source of information, but Scholar Rock Supports is here to help answer questions like “What will my out-of-pocket expenses be?” and “How does the infusion process work?”

Locating an infusion center

Your ROCC can help you locate an infusion center close to home or connect you to home infusion options.

Coordinating your medication

Your ROCC will help monitor the ordering and shipping of your medication to your infusion center or your home.

Preparing for your infusion day

Your ROCC will help you keep track of your infusion appointments and prepare for your infusion day.

Post-infusion resources for patients and caregivers

Your ROCC will provide additional resources and ongoing support to help you throughout your treatment journey.

Financial support at your fingertips

Understanding cost and coverage can be overwhelming, but we can help you understand financial support programs, identify what may be available based on your insurance coverage—including copay support for eligible individuals—and take next steps, so you're not left chasing down answers or figuring things out on your own.

What we do

Connect

We start by listening—learning about your situation, treatment, and coverage—so we can guide you to the support and resources that best fit your needs.

Clarify

We'll help you understand your insurance coverage and identify financial support options that may be available for eligible individuals. Your ROCC can help coordinate next steps and support you through the process.

Coordinate

When paperwork, forms, or next steps are involved, we can help coordinate details and keep things moving.
